

MORE ARRESTS OF M. A. C. BOYS FOR THEFTS EXPECTED

College Community Determined to End Epidemic of Larcenies and Vandalism.

PRIVATE SLEUTHS ENGAGED

Houses Have Been Broken Into and Students Robbed for Nearly Three Months.

Other arrests of Maryland Agricultural College boys in connection with a series of thefts and depredations at the college are expected to follow that of Albert E. Tuttle, of Rye, W. Va., who is in jail at Upper Marlboro charged with breaking into the Baltimore and Ohio station at College Park.

College authorities, students, and residents of College Park are aroused over the depredations and petty larcenies that have extended over a period of nearly three months.

Dr. H. J. Patterson, president of the college, stated yesterday that the faculty had tried to apprehend the offenders, and had been unable to do so.

Employed Private Detective.

Determined to put an end to the vandalism and robberies, he said, a Washington detective agency was put in charge of the investigation about two weeks ago, and the arrest of Tuttle was the first step in the effort to round up the offenders.

Ever since the first of the year, Dr. Patterson said, students had been complaining of thefts of money, jewels, and watches.

In addition to these thefts the Y. M. C. store was looted, the greenhouses were broken into, tools and landscape gardening instruments were stolen and the engineering and science halls also broken into, though nothing was taken from them.

A school house in the vicinity also had been broken into, but no appreciable damage was done. Dr. Patterson said, Mr. Tuttle, of the housebreaking seems to have been done in a spirit of vandalism, leading the college authorities to believe that the depredations of the students had committed many of the depredations in a spirit of vandalism rather than for purposes of theft.

Traced to New York.

Last Sunday night a week ago L. M. Kefauver, Baltimore and Ohio station agent at College Park, reported the ticket office, nearly a mile from the college, had been entered, and the cash drawer pried open with a chisel. No money was found there, and nothing was taken except a bunch of duplicate keys. The locks were immediately changed.

Detectives working on the college case turned their attention to the station breaking incident, and this resulted in the arrest on Monday of Tuttle. He is nineteen years old, and was one of the most popular men in the freshman class.

Tuttle, the authorities say, at first denied any knowledge of the robbery, but then broke down and pleaded with his captors not to take from him a pawn ticket.

"It will ruin me if you do," he cried, and tore the ticket to shreds.

The ticket was placed together and was found to be a ticket for a watch pawned in New York. Inspector of Detectives Grant Washington headed quarters. Immediately was asked to trace the watch in the New York shop.

Held in Default of Bail.

Yesterday young Tuttle was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Bailey and pleaded guilty. He was held in default of $100 bail. He said he needed the money for his college expenses. He was taken to Upper Marlboro by Sheriff Gates, of Prince George's county, and until late yesterday few of the students at the college knew he was under arrest. Not many knew that detectives had been working on the case.

In each of the five sections of the dormitories, Dr. Patterson stated, student proctors were asked to co-operate in trying to locate the principal offender. But neither instructors nor proctors were able to get any trace of the thieves.

Dr. T. H. Spence, vice president of the college, carried on an extended but fruitless inquiry, and recommended that detectives be put on the case.

Secure Pawn Tickets.

Townfolk are indignant over the depredations which they attribute to the college boys.

There is no legal authority in the town of College Park to restrain the boys, not even a constable. The town has no mayor, and when the arm of the law is needed a deputy sheriff has to be summoned from Hyattsville or Upper Marlboro.

Detectives are in possession, it is understood, of some of the pawn tickets, and they expect a search of Washington pawn shops yesterday for some of the jewelry lost during the past few months at the college.

Training of Students For Banks Is Planned

George Washington University probably will co-operate with the National City Bank of New York in the training of students for positions of responsibility in the foreign banking service. This banking institution already has enlisted the co-operation of the principal universities of the East and middle West.

George Washington University has been requested by the bank to recommend to it one, two, or three of the best sophomores and a similar number of the best seniors for this year's classes. It is likely that the selection will be made by competitive examination, although class standing at the university will play a big part.

War Photographer to Lecture at Press Club

James Hare, one of the most widely experienced of American war photographers, having been engaged in catching snapshots near the firing line in the majority of the wars and insurrections that have disturbed the world in the past twenty years, will lecture at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow evening at the National Press Club.

Mr. Hare has only recently returned from the battlefields of Europe and will show a series of slides portraying scenes of that great war area.

PRESS CLUB PAYS "SPIRIT" PROMPTER TRIBUTE TO PENCE OF WAITE IS SOUGHT

The board of governors of the National Press Club last night adopted resolutions upon the death of Thomas J. Pence, secretary of the Democratic National Committee, and one of the charter members of the club.

The resolutions read: "Tom Pence has gone to his last reward. We shall see him no more, but he will be with us as long as memory lasts. He possessed the combination of qualities that win affection and respect, the high professional attributes and ideals that made him a man of mark in any walk or company he chose. We loved him because he was strong and brave and gentle, because he possessed deep and genuine human sympathy; and we admired and respected him for his broad understanding, his common sense, his loyalty, his integrity."

"He was a man among men. The National Press Club mourns the loss of one of its best beloved members. This tribute to his memory will be spread upon the minutes of the board of governors, and posted on the club bulletin board."

MRS. HORTON INTENDS TO SEE WAITE TODAY

Complains Prosecutor Tries to Prove She Got $9,000 From Alleged Poisoner.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Unless the plans of her lawyer, Harold Spielberg, go wrong, Mrs. Margaret Horton will have an interview today with Dr. Arthur Warren Waite.

The man accused of poisoning his wife's parents and "the woman in the case" will meet in the prison ward of Bellevue Hospital.

So far as evidence bearing on Dr. Waite's confessed crimes is concerned, the meeting is not expected to develop anything of importance. Everything that Mrs. Horton says to Dr. Waite and all that he says to her will be spoken in the presence of many witnesses.

Mr. Spielberg will be present; so will Harry M. Horton, husband of the "woman of mystery." So, in all likelihood, will an Assistant District Attorney, Mr. Spielberg said reporters might also attend.

Mrs. Horton told a reporter she wanted to see Dr. Waite because he had been "very good and kind" to her, but she denied that the suggestion to believe an interview came from her. She said: "When I was in the district attorney's office last Saturday they asked me if I would not like to see Dr. Waite and I replied that I would be very glad to—why not? Dr. Waite was my friend. If he was doing anything wrong I knew nothing about it."

Questioned by Aides.

Mrs. Horton and Mr. Spielberg expected to see Dr. Waite yesterday afternoon, but the meeting could not be arranged. Dr. Waite was being removed to the prison ward. Another and greater obstacle was that Mrs. Horton and her lawyer were kept all afternoon in the district attorney's office answering questions propounded by Assistant District Attorney Dooling and Brothers.

She and Mr. Spielberg went to the criminal courts building at 11 o'clock in the morning and returned to Spielberg's office about 1 o'clock. There was another session in the afternoon lasting from 2 o'clock until 5. At the end of the ordeal Mrs. Horton looked weary.

"I don't mind answering questions if they will help anybody," she explained as she sat in Mr. Spielberg's office. "I don't seem to be asking only the silliest things they could think of. They seem to be trying to prove that I got about $9,000 from Dr. Waite or that Mr. Horton did. There is not a word of truth in any statement like that. As there is a God in heaven, I never accepted a penny from Dr. Waite. He never offered me money except once; when I was going to take a taxi cab he pulled out a $10 bill and wanted me to take it to pay for the taxi."

"No, thank you," I told him. "Mr. Horton gives me all the money I need. I never accepted a gift from him of any kind."

Was Hotel Singer.

"Then they asked me if I had not been a cabaret singer in Cincinnati and if that was not how I met Mr. Horton. Perfectly absurd! In the early winter of 1914 I was singing for one week in the Metropole Hotel, which had just been opened. Mr. Horton was staying there at the time and he obtained an introduction to me. We were married in Cincinnati on February 14, 1914."

I never sang in any hotel except the Metropole and that was only for the opening week, but I sang at entertainments and concerts because I was then studying at the Cincinnati College of Music and needed the money. I was supporting myself and paying for my musical education."

"The thing that hurts me most," Mrs. Horton continued, "is the untrue things they are saying about my husband. Mr. Horton has acted like a man. He has tried to protect me in every way and I could just kill anybody who says mean things about him."

"They asked me if Dr. Waite told me anything about the impending death of his father-in-law and my mother-in-law. He never made any remark of that sort to me. He did say on several occasions that they were both elderly and not in very good health, but he always spoke affectionately about them."

Mrs. Horton submitted to the operations of the camera brigade on both trips to the criminal courts building. Station pictures were also on the job. Mrs. Horton looked her best. She wore a dark blue charmeuse gown with white "ivy" collar and a large picture hat of gray hemp with a single rose.

Mr. Horton remained in his home at 36 West Eleventh street all day and refused to see newspapermen. He referred them to Mr. Spielberg.

"The district attorney's office has not brought to light a single fact tending to show that either Mrs. Horton or her husband had the slightest knowledge of Waite's criminal intentions," Mr. Spielberg told a reporter. "They have gone over the lives of my clients with a microscope without finding a thing to discredit them. Mr. Horton failed in business because of illness and went into bankruptcy. Why else? The implication that Mr. Horton or Mrs. Horton received money from Dr. Waite—supposedly about $9,000—has not been borne out by a single fact."

"The district attorney's office seems to be making a mystery of the fact that Mr. Horton, within the last year earned $5,000. There is no mystery about it. He made it through a sale of wireless apparatus to the Mexican government."

"Nothing has come out in all the examination to change any important detail in Mrs. Horton's story as she told it originally."

URGES EVERYONE TO QUICKLY GET ON WATER WAGON

Drink glass of hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best in all day out just try inside-bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys, and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, bile, and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening, and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little. The drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanse the skin and refresh the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside-bathing will have them both looking and feeling better in every way.—Advt.

Get a Prize of $10

The Chamber of Commerce has announced for next week a mammoth window display contest for Washington merchants. The five best displays will bring as a reward to their respective managers or originators an I. C. S. scholarship.

In order to attract the attention of the public to the excellence of the windows, The Washington Times offers three prizes of to the three people whose opinions and reasons therefor agree most nearly with the decisions of the official judges.

Watch for further announcements—play the game—it may net you ten dollars.

Explains Why Coffee Hurts Many

Dr. W. A. Evans, prominent Chicago physician, who edits the "How To Keep Well" columns of the Chicago Tribune, said in that publication, under date of March 7, 1915:—

"Coffee is a drug. Those who are addicted to its use are drug addicts." "From the standpoint of public hygiene the coffee question is worth while. It is the most widespread form of drug addiction."

Some coffee drinkers go on for years without seeming harm, but with others the telltale effects of the drug, caffeine, in coffee, show in various ills and discomforts, such as headache, biliousness, indigestion, nervousness, sleeplessness and heart disturbance.

When the health of a coffee-drinker begins to suffer it's high time to quit the coffee.

The change to

is easy and pleasant. Better health usually follows, and a ten days' trial proves.

Postum comes in two forms. The original Postum Cereal—must be well-boiled—15c and 25c packages. Instant Postum—a soluble powder—is made in the cup. No boiling required. 30c and 50c tins.

The two forms of Postum are equally delicious, and the cost per cup is about the same.
